Online Short Course in Agricultural Policy Analysis CALLING FOR APPLICATIONS

The Postgraduate Institute of Agriculture (PGIA) is offering a 5-week Online Course in Agricultural Policy Analysis starting on 04th October, 2021.

The course is sponsored by the European Union funded Technical Assistance to the Modernization of Agriculture Programme (TAMAP) and endorsed by the National Planning Department of the Ministry of Finance and the Ministry of Agriculture.

The objective of the course is to strengthen national capacities for evidence-based policy analysis by providing advanced theoretical knowledge and practical tools for assessing agriculture policies.

Invitations calling to nominate suitable officers have been sent out to selected government agencies, private sector organizations, civil society organizations, and universities. Additionally, a limited number of positions will be available to qualifying officials, executives, academics, and postgraduate students in agricultural policy analysis and related fields by application.

Under the EU funded TAMAP Project, the course is offered free for the selected participants.

Full course content and online application details will be available at the link http://www.pgia.ac.lk/Online_Course.php or can be obtained by sending an email to pgia.tamap@pgia.ac.lk. The deadline for application is September 24, 2021.
